Two local men eye sheriff's office

Bethel Chief
Alan Carr

By ALISON ALOISIO
Saying he hopes to "bring the department to a level of professionalism for the next generation," Bethel Police Chief Alan Carr has decided to run for Oxford County Sheriff in 2006.

He would run first as a Republican in next June's primary, most likely against Lt. Chris Wainwright of the Oxford County Sheriff's Dept. and Richard Pickett, Dixfield's current police chief.

The general election will take place in November 2006.

Carr, 57, is an Albany resident. He has 33 years of law enforcement experience, 25 of them with the Maine State Police. He took over as Bethel's chief last year after former chief Darren Tripp was fired.

"My 33 years of experience in law enforcement, experience working rural patrol for the state police, and being a chief in a small town, gives me the knowledge to be able to work with people from all backgrounds," Carr said.

OCSO Lt. Jim Miclon

By ALISON ALOISIO
Lt. Jim Miclon of the Oxford County Sheriff's Office has not absolutely committed to a run for sheriff, but he's thinking very seriously about it.

Miclon, 46, is a resident of Woodstock and has been in law enforcement for 27 years.

He is a Democrat — the only one known to be interested in the sheriff's position at this time.

He said he has been talking regularly with Democratic officials at both the state and local level, and feels he has support to seek the office.

"From Hiram to Roxbury and from Stow to Buckfield, I've had a number of people encouraging me to run," Miclon said Tuesday.

He began his career with the OCSO, working in dispatch, at the jail and as a civil deputy. He became a patrolman on the West Paris patrol in 1980.

Step right this way, Classmate School began Wednesday in SAD44, under the rainy skies produced by the remains of Hurricane Katrina. Elementary and secondary students returned to classes riding the bus together, as the district returned to single-bus runs to save on transportation costs. At Crescent Park Elementary School, youngsters getting off the bus looked for signs showing where their classmates were gathering. Here, Matthew Bennett shepherds a classmate into the fold as he holds the sign for Karen DeCarolis' first grade.

Bethel water supply

New main being readied; usage still restricted

By MICHAEL DANIELS
A water conservation order remains in effect for Bethel village, as workers prepare to install a new water main across the Androscoggin River.

If all goes well, the new pipe could be on line by Sunday afternoon, according to John Head, chairman of the Bethel Water District Board of Trustees.

But even if all goes as planned, Head said, the conservation order is unlikely to be lifted until at least mid-week.

And while the order prohibits unnecessary usage of water, including lawn and garden watering and car washing, BWD trustees are also urging customers to cut back as much as possible on other uses — until the current touch-and-go water-supply situation is resolved.

(See The Citizen web site, www.bethelcitizen.com, for any changes in system status.)

The order has been in effect since the original, 1889, water main under the river failed, over the weekend of Aug. 13-14.

Since then village water has crossed the river by way of two, 2-1/2 inch fire hoses.

Operating under gravity feed from the district's water source on Chapman Brook, the fire hoses can provide approximately 75 gallons of water per minute to the district's 550,000-gallon reservoir on Paradise Hill.

When a pump is added to the system, the output more than doubles. Currently, an old fire truck, hired from a Vassalboro contractor, is serving as a pump, but it is only on line for 12 to 15 hours a day.

As a result, the net volume of water going into the reservoir is enough to provide for basic needs in the village, but not enough for optional water uses — or, more crucially, to provide the desired level of water supply in the event of a fire.

Some arrived damaged Following the mid-August

Mary Merrill is Wal-Mart's 'Maine Teacher of the Year'

By ALISON ALOISIO
Mary Merrill, a kindergarten teacher at Crescent Park Elementary School, has been named Maine's Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year — an honor that carries with it a $10,000 educational grant for CPS.

The presentation, a surprise to Merrill, was made Tuesday afternoon as the CPS staff prepared for the opening of school (Photo, page 2).

"What a wonderful way to start out the school year," said Principal Judy Whitman.

Merrill said her fellow-workers did a good job of keeping the secret from her. But, she said, "It's $10,000 for the school — that's even more exciting."

She was named local Teacher of the Year by the Oxford Wal-Mart last spring, making her eligible to compete for the statewide award. There are 25 Wal-Mart stores in Maine.

As part of the competition, Merrill submitted answers to four essay questions about her educational philosophy and experience.

In response to a question about her efforts as a volunteer in the community, Merrill described her involvement in organizing the annual CPS fifth-grade trip to Boston:

"Through the criticisms, long hours and time away from home, I often felt that I was crazy to take on this task. However, when we entered Boston, I turned and looked at all the faces on the bus and realized that this is what volunteering and teaching are all about — that 'look on those faces' — no matter how much you give, what you receive is always worth the effort."

Merrill is in her 16th year of teaching, the last seven at CPS. She also taught in Dixfield.

She is now eligible to participate in Wal-Mart's national competition. This is the 10th year of the store's award program.

New, younger residents push to have Concord Pond Road open year-round

By ALISON ALOISIO
In response to pressure from a younger generation of Concord Pond residents, Woodstock selectmen are pondering whether to plow the Concord Pond Road in winter.

"The age of the [camp] owners has gone down drastically, and they want it open in the winter," said Vern Maxfield, town manager. "I imagine they'll make a massive move to try to get us to do it. I think it's a fair request."

He said more people are taking down old camps and putting up "nice cottages." As a result, their taxes have gone up and they want more for their money, he said.

In recent years, various camp owners have taken care of plowing the three-mile, gravel road themselves. "Whenever someone goes through, they drop their plow," Maxfield said.

Selectman Leon Poland said that because snowmobiles also run on the road and pack down the snow that remains on the roadway, "it prolongs the mud season two weeks."

Maxfield said it would be better for the road if it is plowed thoroughly on a regular basis, "because the spring rain doesn't have a chance to soak in and it dries out quicker in

Upton's Lower Dam passes into history

By MICHAEL DANIELS
A landmark of the area's logging past disappeared this summer, but will likely return, at least in part, as a visible reminder of that rich history.

The above-water part of Lower Dam, on the Rapid River in Upton was torn down in mid-August, after its current owners, the Rangeley Lakes Heritage Trust, determined the failing, century-old structure was too expensive to repair and maintain.

The trust also feared that if the structure collapsed on its own, it could alter water levels both downstream, in the river, and upstream, in Pond in the River — thereby threatening not only property and public safety, but also the river's world-class brook trout fishery.

The removal process took place over five days, according to Shelby Rousseau, RLHT stewardship director.

More than 30 people worked together on the project, Rousseau said. They represented companies, organizations and individuals as diverse as a professional removal and salvage contractor, the Rangeley Region Guides and Sportsman's Association, state fisheries and environmental departments and individual whitewater techs/EMTs.

Two goals of the project were to remove intact as much of the structure as possible, while also causing as little damage as possible to natural resources.

Four log truck trailers were filled with parts of the dam, Rousseau said, including historic beams and planking, as well as gatehouses and gate wheels.

The plan now, Rousseau said is to display the artifacts prominently in an Outdoor Heritage Museum the guides-and-sportsmen's group hopes to establish in Oquossoc.

A photo/history binder is also being compiled, with copies to be distributed to the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, Rangeley Historical Society, and the town of Upton.

"It was a beautiful building," Rousseau said. "While we have all been saddened by its removal, we are honored to have visited Lower Dam and to have visited it both inside and out several times over the past several years," Rousseau said. "Lower Dam has certainly served in a capacity that allows it to rest in peace and occupy a place of honor in the future Outdoor Heritage Museum."

LOWER DAM on the Rapid River was built at the turn of the 20th century and sluiced its last log in 1949. The above-water structure was removed last month, with many of its components saved for display in a planned museum. (Photo courtesy of K. Wing)

STOP THE FIREWOOD RIP-OFFS

To the Editor:

I have been asked by the State of Maine, Department of Agriculture, QA division to relate our story.

In July, my elderly mother called and ordered four cords of dry, cut and split firewood to be delivered to her home. On July 29, her firewood was delivered and she complained that it did not look like four cords of wood. She was rudely told that the seller was "state certified and knew what he was doing." She paid the $700 he demanded with a check.

My brother was later able to stack and measure the wood and found it to be more than a cord short. He called the Paris area seller and was told the same thing as my mother, "I am state certified and I know what I am doing and I will not discuss it further."

We contacted the Maine Forest Service and they forwarded it on to the Quality Assurance and Regulation Division of the Maine Department of Agriculture. A representative of the division came to my mother's house, and indeed my mother was more than one cord short of what she had requested and paid for.

The Quality Assurance and Regulation Division would like any other persons who have ordered, purchased and paid for firewood and felt that they did not receive what they ordered to please contact them at 287-3841.

How can someone short people trying to heat their homes in our cold winters at these prices and sleep at night? Especially the elderly who have limited incomes they try to cope with? I hope that all others will call immediately. Let us stop this travesty.

HARVEST FEST FUN

To the Editor:

As the autumn approaches, the Bethel Area Chamber is planning for the annual Harvest Fest on the Bethel Common, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 17. What makes this event especially fun for all of us is the creative scarecrows that start to adorn the front porches and front yards of businesses and residences throughout the area. We invite everyone to keep this new tradition alive and celebrate the transition of seasons.

The 2005 scarecrow theme is "Happy Trails." Let's have fun with this. The chamber is also seeking a few businesses or individuals that would be willing to decorate the Welcome to Bethel signs at the Intervale Road, Lover's Lane and on Route 2 east of the village. Please call our office, 824-2282, if you would like to do this.

Everyone who participates in the scarecrow decorating is doing their part to bring smiles to the faces of our residents and visitors. That's what this area has become known for. Let us know what your plans are and we'll be sure to come and take a picture of your creation.

At the eighth annual Bethel Harvest Fest we will be holding the third annual Apple Pie Contest. The pies will be judged in three categories: amateur traditional crust pie, amateur non-traditional crust, and a professional division. So, whether you are a pastry chef for an area restaurant, or an avid home-baker, we encourage you to enter. Three gift certificates to the Good Food Store will be the prizes for the winners. Please call the chamber office, 824-2282, to let us know of your intent to enter.

On Friday, Sept. 16, we have arranged for several forest products related businesses to do tours and open houses for the public. Those participating this year are: Maine Line Products, Maine Chair Kit Company, Chadbourne Tree Farms, Hancock Lumber, Timberlake's Home Store and Rooster's Roadhouse. Check the chamber column inside this edition for the complete schedule.

So, as the lazy days of the summer of 2005 become a memory, let's have some fun with the harvest.

A VICTORY LOST

To the Editor:

It has been almost a whole year since we stood in the rain to see our field hockey team win a state championship. We had a nice escort home, a cake and lots of great pictures.

A special moment came when one of the mothers took off her state championship jacket she had won 25 years ago and put it on her daughter.

We were all so excited when they told us that all the girls would have a jacket. Little did I know that my daughter and her three other senior teammates would never get the honor of wearing these jackets this past year.

I started asking about the jackets after Christmas; then in the spring I hoped to see these jackets on award night at graduation, but not so.

Now my daughter and the three seniors are off to college — and the victory that was so special to them is lost. Why do I care so much, because my daughter was one of the captains.

Hopefully, this letter will bring about the distribution of these long-awaited jackets to the rest of the team.

I wish them good luck and hope they, too, do not have to wait any longer.

Monique Bailey
Bethel

(Note: According to Athletic Director Jim Lunney, championship jackets were ordered, but school letters that were to be stitched on them are on-back order, delaying the jackets' delivery.)

CANOE TREK THANKS

To the Editor:

A decade ago, a handful of people conceived of a way to help elevate public awareness about the striking improvements made to the Androscoggin River, a ribbon of water — almost magical in many sections — that runs from the northern forests of Maine and New Hampshire to the tide-waters of the Atlantic.

Thus was born the Androscoggin's annual Source-to-the-Sea Canoe Trek, a free, 20-day, 170-mile event that has now been enjoyed by over 5,000 paddlers from across the Northeast and beyond.

Now, at the conclusion of the Canoe Trek's tenth anniversary, those of us at the Androscoggin River Watershed Council (ARWC) wish to extend our appreciation to the generous donors and volunteers who made this year's event a great success.

Maine businesses that supported the Trek were Androscoggin Bank, Brascan Power, FPL Energy, Liberty Mutual, Lincoln Canoe, Lost Valley Ski Area, Mechanics Savings Bank, NewPage Corporation, Northeast Bank, Planet Dog, and Sunday River Skiway. Also, many Bethel area groups and organizations assisted the trek in a variety of ways, including Bethel Outdoor Adventures, Maine Handicapped Skiing, Sunday River Inn, Mahoosuc Land Trust, Stony Brook Recreation, and Tourmaline Media.

Designed to foster a sense of appreciation and stewardship for one of New England's great natural resources, the Androscoggin River Canoe Trek is the only source-to-the-sea paddling event in the nation that has been held on an annual basis, year in and year out. As such, it serves to highlight a waterway that is increasingly recognized for its vital role to communities from Errol, N.H., to Brunswick, Maine.

Again, our thanks go out to all those who assisted and participated in this year's milestone Tenth Anniversary journey.

Button up now, save money later

"Price for Oil Sky High"

"Petroleum Prices Continue to Rise"

Do these headlines sound familiar from last winter?

The news is clearly not getting any better, with the price for a barrel of oil hovering around $60. An old Maine proverb says, "Summer is just Nature's way of letting you get ready for winter." Maybe we should do just that.

Thinking about a big solution to the big problem of high home heating costs? Before getting too carried away with things like installing a new heating system, take a good look at your home. Does it resemble a brick of Swiss cheese?

Here are some smart energy saving conservation tips that could save you loads of money.

Hunting down and plugging up air leaks and drafts is the first thing to do.

You probably know where the worst ones are from the chilly drafts that you felt last winter.

You should also refurbish the weather stripping around all doors and windows. Check them even if your home is relatively new.

The weather stripping can wear out with time. For replacements, there are many different types to choose from, including the closed-cell foam strips that last long and withstand very cold temperatures.

Window replacement offers another opportunity to "button up" because a single pane window simply does not make it in Maine. A second sheet of glazing reduces the heat loss through the window by 35 percent.

Even then, windows can account for 10 percent of the heat lost from a home. Consider modifying existing shades and drapes so that they seal tight against the windows if the material is vapor-tight. Insulated shades will save you even more on your energy cost.

Next, check all the vents that send air outdoors from inside your house, bathroom, clothes dryer, and kitchen.

Make sure that the flappers close tightly. They can get jammed with lint easily and should be cleaned regularly.

There are indoor leaks to detect as well. Do you have any heat ducts that pass through cold spaces such as crawl spaces, attics or cold basements?

The ducts are easily punctured by nails and can literally leak money to the winter air. So, seal the holes with mastic or some other appropriate compound.

Many of today's energy efficiency standards recommend that these ducts be insulated with at least an R-8 insulation. (Higher "R" values mean better insulation.) Sealed and insulated ducts can cut $500 off of your annual heating bill.

These are just a few of the ways to save on heating cost.

Efficiency Maine has much more information on improving energy conservation in homes and businesses. (www.efficiency-maine.com or toll-free (866) 376-2463)

And, if you think the job is beyond you or just want expert help, you can get a list of Certified Energy Auditors from the Maine State Energy Program (www.maine.gov/msep or 287-3349).

But, even after all of this, you may still want to think about changing your heating system.

Watch for upcoming columns on fuel choices in this column.

Changes in Catholic masses

BETHEL — A new schedule for masses at area Catholic churches, effective Sept. 10 and 11, was recently announced. The 4:30 p.m. Vigil Mass at Our Lady of the Snows in Bethel will remain the same. The Bethel church will become part of the Rumford Catholic community. The changes are part of the statewide implementation of the church's Cluster Concept.

Route 5 work in Lovell

LOVELL — Work begins this week on improvements to almost five miles of Route 5 in Lovell, according to the Maine Department of Transportation. "The project area begins between Lovell and Center Lovell, about two miles north of the southern junction of routes 5 and 5A, and extends north through Center Lovell toward North Lovell for just under four and three-quarters miles," said Joe Darling, MDOT's construction manager on the project. "The work includes some drainage improvements where necessary, replacement of the existing cable-style guardrail with a more modern guardrail system, and paving," Darling notes. "Drivers can expect to see work crews doing preliminary work on the project as early as Monday, Aug. 29, with heavier concentrations of activity as we move forward from there." Darling says drivers should expect periods of alternating one-way traffic with delays of five to seven minutes at times. "It would be a good idea for folks to give themselves an extra five or ten minutes to allow for possible delays," he notes.

'Polar coaster' winter predicted

LEWISTON — Keep your mittens and hat handy and get ready for a wintry ride on the "polar coaster." Warning that the coming winter will bring unusually sharp fluctuations in temperature, the Farmers' Almanac suggests that readers "may be reminded of riding a roller, or in this case, 'polar' coaster." "Mother Nature seems to be in the mood for some amusement this winter season," the almanac said in its 2006 edition, just off the presses. The coldest weather will be in the Northeast, which also will see plenty of snow, the almanac said. It predicts cold weather for the South and Mid-Atlantic regions and snowy but mild conditions in the Great Lakes and Midwest. Parts of the Rockies and the Great Plains may see drier-than-normal weather, adding to an ongoing drought, the forecast said. Wetter-than-normal weather is predicted for parts of the Pacific Northwest and lower Texas. The 189-year-old publication claims 80 percent to 85 percent accuracy for the forecasts by its reclusive prognosticator, Caleb Weatherbee. Weatherbee prepares the forecasts two years in advance using a secret formula based on sunspots, the position of the planets and the tidal action of the moon. That means he's getting set to work on the 2008 forecast, said Editor Peter Geiger. While the National Weather Service questions the accuracy of long-range forecasts, almanac officials say Weatherbee's stack up well against those of traditional meteorologists. Chris Vaccaro, a weather service spokesman in Silver Spring, Md., wouldn't comment on the almanac's predictions without knowing "the methodology or algorithms" used to produce them. But he said any forecast more than a week in advance is subject to change. The almanac, not to be confused with the New Hampshire-based Old Farmer's Almanac 24 years its senior, claims a circulation of nearly 5 million. Most are sold to banks, insurance companies, oil dealers and other businesses that give them away as a goodwill promotion. Other versions are sold by retailers in the United States and Canada.

Rescued skiers to pay

KILLINGTON, VT. — Four of five men billed by the state of Vermont have reached settlements for full-scale rescue searches after they went off trails at Killington Ski Resort. Earlier this year, four Pennsylvanians received bills totaling more than $16,000 for their rescue from the backwoods of Killington on Dec. 20 after they skied out of bounds and spent a night outside in bitter cold temperatures before they were found. Another Virginia skier was later sent a $3,902 bill from the state to cover the search and rescue expenses racked up on Jan. 10 by the Vermont State Police, Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department and the volunteer Upper Valley Wilderness Response Team after he skied out of bounds at the resort and got lost.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Tuesday, Aug. 30

At 12:50 p.m. Chief Alan Carr responded to a single-car accident on Route 2. The vehicle had struck a utility pole. There were no injuries.

At 3 p.m. Chief Alan Carr assisted Bethel Rescue with a call on the Intervale Road.

Sunday, Aug. 28

At 12:48 p.m. and again at 3:38 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore assisted Bethel Rescue on a medical call on the Intervale Road.

At 5:28 p.m. Officers Rusty Daley, Bill Britting and Travis Fillmore responded to a report of a subject entering the woods on the Paris Road with a handgun. The officers located the subject. No crime had been committed. He was warned about carrying a firearm in the woods on Sunday.

At 6:12 p.m. Officers Travis Fillmore and Bill Britting responded to a West Bethel residence for a report of a subject destroying property. The complainant said the subject had been trying to make entry into her house, and then damaged her vehicle. Ben Taylor, 18, was given a summons for criminal mischief.

At 9:10 p.m. Officer Rusty Daley stopped a subject driving on Vernon Street after receiving information that there was a warrant on him from the Androscoggin Sheriff's Dept. for failure to appear on a criminal speed charge. A license check showed it was suspended. Adam E. Dumont, 20, was arrested and taken to the Oxford County Jail.

Saturday, Aug. 27

At 10:40 a.m. Officer Rusty Daley received a report of a vehicle stolen from Summer Street overnight. It had been parked near a fire hydrant. The owner had left it the night before and gotten a ride home with someone else. A check with towing services brought no results. At 11:43 a.m., the owner contacted the officer again and said he had just located the vehicle at a village business, with the keys in it. It had two blown tires. The clerk at the business said she had not seen who had driven it onto the property.

Thursday, Aug. 25

At 5:10 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to a 911 hang-up call on Mason Street. Another call was received while the officer was en route. On arrival it was determined a child had been playing with the phone.

Wednesday, Aug. 24

At 12:55 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to the East Bethel Road for a report of the theft of several items from a porch.

At 5:32 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to a Route 2 business for a report of found property. An empty safe had appeared sometime during the afternoon.

Tuesday, Aug. 23

At 11:16 p.m. Officer Buddy Richard responded to a report of a drunk driver in the village. He observed the vehicle parked at a business. The driver passed a sobriety test. The vehicle's registration was suspended, however, and it was towed.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

main failure, the BWD initially attempted to repair the old pipe, but those attempts proved futile and were soon abandoned.

The district then ordered replacement line, from a Midwest supplier. The delivered price was "just under $70,000," Head said.

The pipes arrived late last week.

Twenty-two, 20-foot sections had been ordered and 22 arrived, but two were damaged.

Replacements, and two additional pipes, were ordered, but did not arrive until Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the 20 usable links were unloaded on the village side of the river, bolted together and then dragged toward the Androscoggin.

Jack Cross Excavating, of Bethel, won the contract for the installation work, for a price "not to exceed $35,000," Head said.

The line is being moved by means of a cable, pulled by a bulldozer on the opposite (campground) side of the river.

Once the missing links have been attached, the line will be dragged the remainder of the way across the river, and then connected to existing mains on either side, Head said.

The new pipe will then need to be disinfected and pressure tested, Head said.

When that work is completed, a water sample will be drawn and taken to a state-certified laboratory for testing.

The new pipe is 12-inch ductile steel. The pipe it replaces is 8-inch cast iron.

Most of the old line will be left in the river, Head said, just downstream of its replacement.

But the Water District hopes to pull out a couple of sections of the old pipe, he said, "so we can show people what great shape it was still in."

Carr

BETHEL POLICE CHIEF ALAN CARR

He worked as a patrol officer for the state police in the Limington/Hollis area before transferring to Commercial Vehicle Enforcement. His 12 years of service with CVE included patrolling in Oxford County.

He has also served as the chief of Stoneham Rescue for the past 10 years. As part of those responsibilities, he said, he supervises two dozen people and puts together and operates an annual budget.

As for his approach to law enforcement, "my motto is firm, fair and consistent," he said.

More rural patrols?

Carr was asked how he would deal with the issue of providing adequate enforcement coverage for Oxford County towns without their own police departments. Officials of some smaller towns have complained in the past that they do not get coverage in line with the taxes paid to the county.

Carr said he believes it would be a matter of redistributing the manpower resources currently available in order to increase patrols in the rural areas.

He said his police experience has taught him "how the economic system works, and how it can benefit the small towns. I think we can work more efficiently with what we have," he said. "I look forward to the challenge."

Carr said that while pursuing the sheriff's office he would continue to give his duties in Bethel his full attention.

"My dedication and enthusiasm is still with the Bethel Police Department," he said.

Town Manager Scott Cole said he will serve as the chief's advisor during his run for office.

The arrangement is at Carr's request, Cole said, and any campaign advising will take place separate from his job as town manager.

"I think he would make an excellent sheriff," said Cole, who hired Carr.

As for the possibility of losing his police chief to public office, Cole said, "Anything that's the good for Oxford County is good for Bethel."

full-time detectives with the department, and since 1989 has been the only full-time detective.

As Chief Criminal Investigator for the OCSD, Miclon oversees all criminal investigations in the county. Deputies report to him on such investigations, and he is in charge of evaluations for the department's three sergeants, he said.

He also has input on the annual OCSD budget and takes part in the budget hearings.

Miclon has also served in the past as a director of the NOPAR Federal Credit Union, dealing with a large budget there, he said.

He had pledged not to run against current

Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick while Herrick was still seeking re-election. But with Herrick now retiring, the lieutenant decided to give serious consideration to pursuing the job.

He said his years of law enforcement experience throughout Oxford County put him in a good position to serve as sheriff.

"I have a lot of ideas. I see things that could be done differently," Miclon said.

But he declined to be specific at this time about his ideas. He said he would wait until January, when he can take out a petition to formalize his intentions.

(A suitable photograph of Lt. Miclon was not available.)

the spring."

But, Maxfield said, if the town does plow, it would not be cost-effective to send the large town plowtruck eight miles out of the village to do the job. Because of the price of fuel, he said, it would be more economical for Woodstock to contract out for the plowing.

Selectman Judy Bennett agreed. "It doesn't make sense to drive all the way out there with the cost of fuel," she said.

The board will consider the issue further at its next meeting.

The Freddy 2005 Invitational Golf Scramble

On Saturday, Aug. 20, the Sunday River Golf Course hosted "The Freddy" 2005 Invitational Golf Scramble in remembrance of Frederick DesRoches formerly of East Bethel, Prestbury-Aurora, Ill., and Alna. The fog lifted and rain subsided at the 1 p.m. tee off. Fifty players were in attendance plus 25 or more spectators. Ruth DesRoches, Dustin DesRoches, son of Fred and Ruth, Melissa DesRoches, wife of Dustin, and Neal Grover, along with family member. Photographers of the Damariscotta area played in and helped organize the event. Charlie Herrick of The Schooner Landing restaurant and marina in Damariscotta assisted in creating this event with the Sunday River Golf Club. However, many "chipped" in to make this a memorable day.

Players from the Bethel area, long-time friends and Gould Academy classmates of Fred's, were Doug Rice, son of Mary Rice-Keniston; Justin and Rachel Rice-Welch with husband Pat (Conn.); Tim and Dick Ramage, sons of Ken and Sally Ramage; John Todd and Will Slade; Don Rice, Emerson Merrill, Loretta and Rus Merrill. Jay DesRoches, son of Fred and Ruth, flew in from Texas.

Players and spectators traveled from New York, Delaware, New Hampshire, Florida, Illinois, Wisconsin, Virginia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia, Texas and Maine. Tom Quinn and his son, Nick, flew in from Ireland.

Winners of the "Whaler Flight" with a score of 4-Under were: first place, Dustin DesRoches, Mike Dunn, Vince Cincotta (N.Y.) and Bob Renaud (Mass.) received oil paintings depicting lobstermen or clambers by well-known Damariscotta and Walpole artist, Susan Bartlett-Rice.

Winners of the "Harley Davidson Flight" with a score of 12-Under (breaking a tie) were: first place, Neal Grover, Mike McGuire, Tim Flanagan and Richard Eaton all of the Damariscotta area and members of the Boothbay CC. They also were the recipients of oil paintings specifically painted by Bartlett-Rice for the event.

Other awards: Closest to the Pin, Mike McGuire, and Longest Drive, Scott Price, Boothbay CC pro. Closest to the Pin (women), Mary Mezquita (New Hampshire, Florida). The Mezquita family, along with Mary, husband Richard, son Brad and wife Karen won Most Honest Golfers. The Chris Cooney family, owners of The Black Sheep Golf Club in Sugar Grove, Ill., donated their club's t-shirts and hats. The Michael Birk family, of the Chicagoland area presented Purdue Golf hats to the DesRoches family. Fred had played in the Birk Cup, Purdue University, at the Birk Boilermaker Golf Complex for several years. Fred was the only player of a 12-man team to be undefeated for five straight years. The "gold team" Purdue golf hats "2005 Birk Cup" displayed Fred's initials in remembrance.

"Freddy" 2005 Golf Scramble t-shirts were available to all invited players and guests.

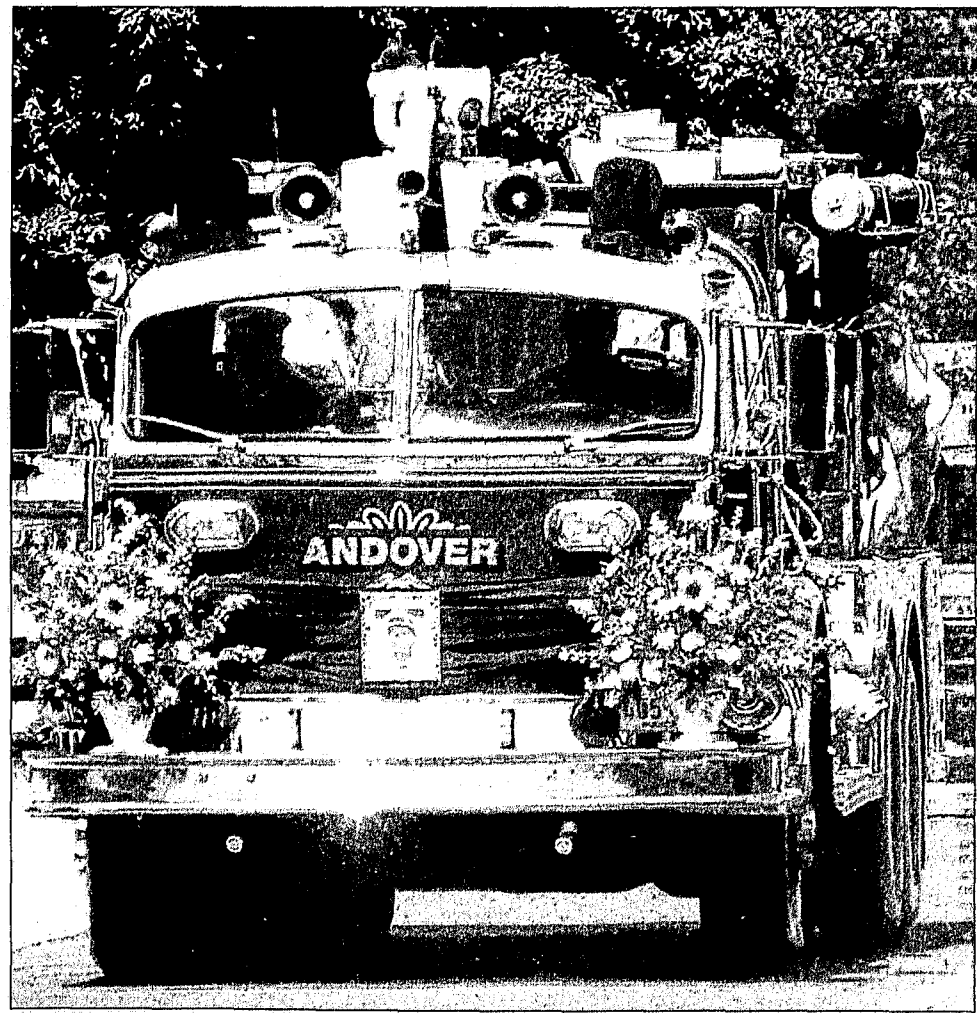

A 50/50 raffle was held, with one half of the proceeds going to the Alna Fire Department, of which Fred was a member, and one half won by Mike Dunn of Long Island, N.Y. Approximately $800 was raised for the Alna FD. Other drawings netted winners hats and shirts. Cole Pendleton, volunteer fireman from the Alna FD designed and donated "Freddy" golf t-shirts for the raffle.

The family of Fred DesRoches and all their guests would especially like to thank Jason Harris, Jeff Bickford, and staff at the Sunday River Golf Club for the beautiful club house facilities and most picturesque and challenging golf course in hosting "The Freddy" 2005 Scramble. Fred, an avid golfer, had told his friends that The Sunday River Golf Course was better than "Pebble Beach." Fred had played in tournaments and recreationally all over the U.S., Ireland and Scotland.

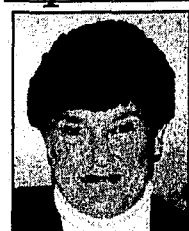

IN MEMORY OF A FIRE CHIEF

This Andover Fire Department truck Saturday took part in a procession to the Woodlawn Cemetery as part of services in memory of R. Donald French, who died last week. French was a member of the AFD for 56 years and served as chief for 2 1/2 years. A photo of French appears on the front of the truck, which, along with the vehicle's lights, were draped in black.

Upton

It's here! September, our most beautiful month. The foliage will have colored up before this month is over. Plants are beginning to show signs of a hot summer. The frost can't be far behind. A few hummingbirds still come to the feeder, but their numbers are slowly diminishing. Tomatoes are turning red and cukes and zucchini are here in abundance.

This time of year the impatiens outdo themselves. They are in full bloom. One frost will take care of that.

The lake level in the coves has dropped considerably. There is now about one foot of H2O under the boats, thanks to Florida Light and Power who are doing their annual draw down.

The Ladies Aid Craft Sale finally was held on Saturday. It was well attended and a lot of fun. The Bake Sale was an unbelievable success with something high in calories for everyone. I bought some delicious dilly beans and other non-nutritious items.

The rain associated with the southern hurricane was moderate on Monday. Our sympathy goes out to the stricken areas. The air here was definitely tropical.

Visitors to our fair village over the weekend were Patrick Spanel and friend at Pat's camp on Mill Road.

Gisele and Real Cameron and Gary Crosby enjoyed camp life on Back Street last week.

Margaret Mitchell was visited recently by grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren.

Tara, Don and Mackenzie Murray spent the weekend with the Nelsons. They intended to be ensconced in their new home in Thomaston. Through a "glitch" in the closing date they were able to come here and enjoy the lake.

An old friend of Upton, from the early '70s, visited at Birch Point. Paula Dierickson Graves was a leader in the campaign to save the lake from mining the diatomaceous earth from the lake bottom. Paula felt the urge to return to Upton for a few days of peace, rest and quiet. It rained a lot but that didn't hold her back from communing with nature.

A call from an old friend of the town, Herb Thomas, informed us that his sister, Merna Monroe, will be visiting Upton Labor Day Weekend. Merna had not been well for a while, but is healthy again.

Our "Bird of the Week" is the delightful kingfisher. He has spent many days lately diving out of the trees into the river. Sometimes he even catches a fish.

The winners of the Ladies Aid raffle will be announced next week.

The Snowmobile Club will hold a picnic at the Ladies Aid Building on Sept. 17.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

It seems that a lot of things have been bugging me lately. Certainly the price of gas and the anticipated price of fuel oil are high on the list.

Every time I pull up to the gas pump I feel like a victim caught up in a gigantic scam. I feel like doing a verbal assault on the person pumping the gas, but restrain myself because that poor person has nothing to do with the ever-escalating gas prices. If their paychecks increased by the same proportion as gas prices, then maybe I'd have some justification in taking it out on them, but gas station attendants, in my opinion, are very poorly paid. So I just smile and give them part of my grocery money to put in my gas tank.

I doubt that Exxon/Mobil would be very receptive to taking my calls of complaint, so that leaves no one for me to vent my frustration on.

Maybe it's that pent-up frustration that is causing some of the pet peeves to peeve me off a lot more than usual. Things that I would have just shrugged off in the past become monumental annoyances.

A case in point is a yard sale sign for a bygone sale. I can't tell you how many times this summer I followed signs announcing "Big 3 Family Yard Sale, Saturday, Any Street," only to find no sale at all anywhere on Any Street. It may have been the Saturday before or several Saturdays before, but no one in the 3 families thought to take the darn sign down.

There have been a few times (especially considering how much high-priced gas I used up) that I felt like knocking on every door on the street in question to find out who had the sale and give them a piece of my mind. Of course, I don't do this because basically I'm a coward, but that doesn't mean that I don't think about what I would say if I actually dared to.

Don't they know how much it cost for the gas to go to yard sales that aren't? People: when your sale is over please remove your signs for all over town.

I feel like a victim caught up in a gigantic scam.

Since I'm in the mood, I'll tell you another thing that really irks me...coupons! I used to cut and use product coupons all the time. Now most of the coupons that are in the Sunday paper or in various magazines are only good when you buy two and sometimes 3 items. Gone are the days of $1.00 off an item with a coupon. Most of them now are more like $.50 off on the purchase of two or more whatever.

I resent that! Sometimes I just want to try a new product to see if I like it. I don't want to get stuck with two or three packages/bottles/cans or boxes of something if it turns out that I don't.

I would be most unhappy if I bought three bottles of salad dressing only to discover that no one in the family liked it. A $1.00 saved with the coupon would end up being $.50 or $.60 wasted.

You want to know something else that's become a pet peeve? I'm glad you asked. People who call me up to ask for someone's telephone number that they know I have and when I start to give it to them they say, "Hold on just a minute while I get a pen and paper." Wouldn't you think the logical thing to do if you're going to call someone up for a telephone number, would be to have pen and paper in hand?

Then there are the people who believe that everyone in the world is entitled to their opinion and they have one on everything. Sort of like a columnist, but the big difference is that you can choose whether or not to read the column.

However, while you're standing in line at a supermarket or a bank and the person behind you decides to enlighten you about everything that's politically wrong with this country. Or why the odds are good that someday a supernova is going to hit earth in the very spot where you're standing right now.

You can't just walk away, as tempting as that may be. You're waiting in line for a reason and you're stuck until you can conclude your business while the talk show host behind you rambles on and on.

And another thing - fast food restaurant drive-thrus. When I use them it is because A.) I'm hungry and B.) I'm in a hurry. It seems like nine times out of ten when I get the food home I discover a screw-up in the order. Either something ordered is missing or a double cheeseburger ordered with just ketchup will have a darn smorgasbord of condiments. I really hate it when that happens.

I certainly have a lot more pet peeves, but I'll spare you the long list, which seems to be growing every day.

Like the rapidly increasing price of gas and oil, I guess I could blame my sour mood on hurricanes, wars, droughts, heat, cold, floods, famine and just about everything else under the sun, but the way I see it...well, I really don't want to think about it because it will just peeve me off.

of Mexico toward New Orleans. The hurricane is listed as a category five and is expected to cause flooding and wind damage inland.

Besides the normal concern for all those living in the area, I have a special interest in keeping updated on the storm. Capt. Stephen McLain, my nephew, and his family are in Mississippi. He is stationed at Camp Shelby, which is in the lower part of the state, near Hattiesburg. Right now the path of the storm goes right up through that area. My brother, Steve McLain, has checked in with them and they are watching the storm and getting ready to take whatever safety measures they need to.

My brother, Steve McLain, attended the funeral service for R. Donald French in Andover on Saturday, Aug. 27. Mr. French was active in the Andover Fire Department for several years and also served as their fire chief. Several fire departments from the area attended to show their respect for a fellow firefighter. Steve drove the new fire truck as the representative for the Gilead Fire Department.

I received word that Maxine Corriveau is at Ledgeview Living Center in West Paris. The address there is 141 Bethel Road, West Paris, ME 04289.

It was good to hear from Howard and "Stevie" Reiche this past week. We hadn't been in contact for a while so they decided to check in. We discussed the work we were doing on the house, writing columns for local newspapers, what is next for the Gilead Historical Society and what they have been up to this summer. Seems like everyone has been quite busy.

Gilead Historical Society
The next event for the GHS is the Potluck Supper/Annual Meeting to be held on Sept. 24 at the Town Hall at 5 p.m. The supper will begin at 5 p.m. and is open to the public. All anyone needs to do is bring either a main dish, salad or dessert to share. The GHS will provide beverages. A short meeting will follow the supper and anyone wishing to stay may do so. Dues for 2006 can be paid at the annual meeting or anytime prior to Jan. 1. Notices will be sent out. The new slate of officers will be announced at this meeting.

The committee has discussed what they feel will work for what will be the first full year of the GHS. The orders that were placed for the DVDs will be available to be picked up at this meeting. There are some on order and if the need arises there can be more copies made.

The final event of 2005 will be the Cemetery Tour on Saturday, Oct. 29. The meeting place is the Town Hall at 2 p.m.

Hello readers, the kids are back to school this week, what a short summer!

Harold Falkenham underwent surgery at the Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston on Aug. 26.

Lester White is a patient at the Rumford Community Hospital. While he was there he had his 94th birthday.

Friends of the Andover Town Hall have started painting the second floor room at the hall. The dining room has been painted and new windows have been installed. The tin ceiling looks wonderful.

Many friends and relatives have been visiting Dolly Jones at Ledgeview Nursing Home. Her granddaughter, Sarah, and her husband are living in her home in East Andover.

Word was received on Aug. 28 of the death of Guy Williams, 52, who lived outside of Houston, Texas. His father, Jack Williams, Wayland Mass., was at the "log cabin" over July 4th and Guy joined him and other relatives in East Andover. At that time he did not feel well, and he saw a doctor when he returned to Texas and found out he had lung cancer. There will be a graveside service in Andover at a later time.

Here are the results from the arm wrestling on Olde Home Day:

Boys: — age 10-12, first, Tyler Morton; second, James Carter; age 13-14: first, Travis Ruff; second, Jordan Smith; age 15-16: first, Ben French; second, Owen Barter.

Girls: — age 10-12, first, Courtney Tyson; second, Julie Steensma; age 13-14, first, Jen Cross; second, Tarra Arsenault.

Women: first, Lori McPherson; second, Robin Palmer Mosher.

Men, 150-165 pounds: first, Gerry Bernier; second, Jeremy Sterling; 166-185 pounds: first, Ed McPherson; second, Robert Hawkes; 186-210 pounds: first, Steven Lizotte; second, Carl Smith; 235 pounds and over: first, Darren Barbeau; second, Kevin Do. Officials were Ed McPherson and Terry Dostie. Get well wishes to Virginia Morton.

Get well wishes to George Ellis.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Donnie French, who passed away last Tuesday. Besides his wife, Doris, he leaves two daughters, Donna and Debra and their families.

The forest is beginning to look a little tarnished around the edges. The ferns have rusty tips, and there are lots of yellow leaves in the understory. Another sure sign of approaching fall is that many of the swamp maples are donning their crimson autumn robes. Summer ends early in these parts, but thankfully we don't have to put up with hurricanes like our neighbors to the south.

I noticed this past week that the "virgin's bower" (wild clematis) has gone to seed, with its mounds of feathery white seed tips looking like a fluffy bed. I don't know where the name came from, but it conjures intriguing pictures in my mind.

Maureen Libby wanted everyone to know how appreciative she and Jeff were of the wonderful turnout for their open house at Sunday River Alpaca Farm. She says they were astounded and delighted at the number of visitors. Moreover, everyone was very welcoming to her and Jeff and really seemed to enjoy getting to know the "pacas."

Last week I had a surprise visit from Maria Termini, who was camping in the area. Some years back, Maria owned and lived in the Mud City Schoolhouse, now owned by Leigh Gadois and Scott Howe. Maria has been in South America a number of times doing Peace Corps stints and helping to build houses. She currently headquarters in Newton, Mass. It was pleasant to get caught up on her life and talk over old times.

Linda Westleigh e-mailed to report that granddaughters Annie Pivin of West Bethel and Samantha Pivin of Berlin, N.H., recently had a great ten-day visit with their Florida grandparents, Roger and Jean Royer of Port St. Lucie. The Royers drove to Maine and took the girls back to Florida for sun, salt, and sand. Annie then flew home on her own, and was picked up at Logan by Mom Lisa Pivin and Grandma after Lisa and Linda had spent the weekend in Lexington, Mass., visiting Linda's sister, Isabelle Bennett.

Linda's other granddaughter (and Annie's older sister), Laura, is living and working in Portland this summer. One of her jobs is to tend the front desk at one of the USM dorms, so in addition to earning money for the fall semester, Laura has her summer room and board taken care of. Way to go!

Last Thursday evening was the occasion of the annual Grange picnic at Ina and Rupert Grover's home. There were some guests present as well. Those picnics always have the yummiest food. The Grange continues to hold its Friday and Saturday Flea Market, with just enough profits coming in to enable building repairs and to fund activities.

Speaking of good food, the West Bethel Church had a supper on Saturday night, perhaps the most successful of the season. As always, the food was scrumptious, and the fellowship, most enjoyable.

The West Bethel Country Store officially opened last Friday. Jennifer Vien reports that lots of folks came in over the weekend to say hello and meet her and Fred. Everything looks very neat and fresh in the store, and it's a comfort to know one doesn't have to drive clear in to Bethel to pick up that jug of milk or bag of chips. Jennifer pointed out that there are fresh pastries available now, and by next week there will be pizza slices as well.

Of possible importance to many of you out there, if you have a favorite newspaper you would like to have stocked, such as the Sunday Boston Globe or the Portland paper, just let Fred or Jennifer know, and they will try to arrange to have it available. Support your local country store!

School started in Bethel yesterday. Please be on the lookout for youngsters waiting for the big yellow buses, and be sure to stop when you see those red lights flashing, whichever direction you're driving. It will be interesting to see how the new bus schedule works out, with all grades riding the same buses, morning and afternoon.

Enjoy the "last" summer weekend, and please contact me with news: 836-3011 or dhoeh@megalink.net.

graduation is Lindsay Pitcher. She has very successfully completed a year of study at Capilo Institute of Hair in Augusta where she traveled daily from home.

Bessie Ettl was hospitalized last week in Rumford and more recently has transferred to Portland. We wish her a quick recovery.

Sympathy is extended to Danny and Janice Bennett of East Milton. Danny's brother, Alan Bennett, passed away last Sunday after an extended period of poor health. Alan and his family were instrumental in helping to keep Hiassee Lodge of the Knights of Pythias active in East Stoneham as well as founding a new Knights of Pythias Lodge (Down East) in Machiasport. Recently, Alan, when not hospitalized, had divided his time between his home in Machiasport and Pitston Farm.

Mark your calendar for these important September dates:

Saturday, Sept. 17, will be the yard sale to benefit Gardner Roberts Memorial Library Moving Fund. It will be at the Hanover Town Office, start around 9 a.m. and will take place rain or shine. They are still collecting goods for the sale and hope that some of the area's good cooks are planning to bring food for the food table.

Barbara and Irv Robinson, who are biking across America to support the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library Moving Fund, will arrive at the end of their trip sometime today, Aug. 30, at Anacortes, Wash. They have bicycled nearly 4,600 miles since leaving Bar Harbor on May 25. They are expected to return to Hanover on Sept. 12.

Sunday, Sept. 18, will be the Hanover Community Barbecue and Welcome Back Barb and Irv celebration. The event will start at noon at Stony Brook Recreation in Hanover with good food and good company. Bruce and Shirley Powell have offered free overnight camping to those who would like to stay over. Contact Bruce or Shirley for more information.

formation.

The Town of Hanover will again this year have a booth at the River Valley Expo at Mountain Valley High School on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. Any Hanover business that would like to join in at the Hanover booth are welcome to bring in business cards, flyers or posters describing your business. Also, people to take shifts tending the booth are needed. Contact Kelly or Clem at the Town Office for more information.

The Hanover Select Board met on Tuesday, Aug. 23. The board discussed plans to improve the cul de sac at the end of South Shore Road and they continue seeking information about the repair or replacement of Second Bridge on the Howard Pond Road. They meet again on Sept. 20, at 5 p.m.

The Hanover Planning Board met on Wednesday, Aug. 24. They discussed projects planned within the Shoreland Zone at Howard Pond and authorized the building of an addition to a South Shore Road residence. They also discussed the possible location of a new residence in the Ferry Road area and the status of an older subdivision that had not previously been developed. Their next meeting will be Sept. 7, at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

Visiting Karlene Bachelder recently were her oldest son, Don, and his son, Brett, from Covington, Ga., and Lynne Emory of Wilson, N.C. They were with her off and on all week. Also, Don's sons, Travis and Bryan from Newry, spent time with Karlene and family members while their dad was here. Her sister, Wilma Stewart from Unity, also visited for a few days. On that Saturday, Karlene, Wilma, and Gilberte Seeley went to Locke Mills for lunch at the Cinnamon Stick Café. Lights are now being used at the Branch Brook bridge site. You can expect to wait for about two minutes if there isn't too much traffic.

Saturday, at the foot of my driveway, a blue heron was ambling slowly on the Branch Road. His legs seemed a bit wobbly as he walked up Lee Swan's lawn by the lilac tree near Lee's parking spot. It was still there as I drove off to Bethel.

Tracy B. Richardson and her children, Broden and Leah, from Minneapolis, Minn., were here about a week visiting her mom, Carolyn, and spending some time with her grandmother, Karlene. Tracy headed back to Minnesota on Aug. 23.

Mary Lowell Ennis from Arlington, Vt., was here for a week visiting her brothers. She stayed with Robert and Laura and their children, Vicki and Eric. With Mary was her dog, Sadie. While here she spent a couple of days at the South Arm Camp with family members. James Lowell joined them at South Arm. On Monday night, Patty and Frank and their children, Danny and James, hosted a family barbecue. At this event were David and Wendy Belling and Robert, Laura, Vicki and Eric.

Danny Lowell has been working with his Uncle David and Doug Zinchuk. He leaves at 6 a.m. and returns with David around 4:30 p.m. While with the two roofers, he does the cleaning up of the materials.

I was informed that the four motorcyclists never did make it to the Four Corners of Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah. So next time they head out, with wives and friends, they should make it to this very special sight on Indian territory.

On Thursday, the Little League softball team of Bethel had an end-of-the-season party and cookout at James Largess' camp at Songo Pond. Fourteen girls are on the team, of which

TWO GIRLS CATCH ONE FISH

A team effort by sisters Kristi, 6, and Emily Hanscom, 4, of Bethel last week produced this 3.5-lb. bass from South Pond. The girls were fishing from shore when Emily hooked the fish first. She had brought it within five feet of shore when her line broke. But a short time later, Kristi hooked the same fish and landed it. It still had Emily's hook with the broken line in its mouth. The fish was 17 1/4 inches long.

spelling and meaning of two words, so all is not lost — chaos and turgid. No excuse for last week's column.

Earl Files from Florida has been here calling on his sister, Brenda Files, and other relatives and friends in the area.

Troy Nelson is on vacation from his work in Oxford and is in Alaska for a couple of weeks with friends and is having fun and good luck in fishing. His father got few phone calls from him.

Marcel Longpre is going to Alaska soon for several weeks, also Tibby York. They will be visiting relatives while there. They also enjoy the fishing.

Sharon Berman from Massachusetts and Cheryl Barnard from Virginia were here to visit their father and mother and other relatives. Thanks, girls.

My birthday has lasted more than a week now and I have enjoyed every minute of it. It all started before Aug. 12 when I received a nice forsythia bush, which is all planted and growing good. Thanks, Frances. Then on Aug. 12 Dale and Kitty Nelson took us to dinner at the Red Jacket Inn and Restaurant. Molly and Gregg joined us there and Matthew was our waiter. Everything was excellent. Let us make a date for next year. And now I have a gift certificate to Hanaford's. Thank, Gene. I am one lucky person. Oh yes, I won $5 on scratch tickets. We were awfully sorry to learn of the house fire in North Lovell, when Mr. and Mrs. Harlon Rowe lost their home and everything in it. It was a terrible thing to happen, but no lives were lost.

Albert and I took in the two chicken barbecues recently. He always looks forward to them at the North Fryeburg Fire Station and the Center Lovell Fire Station. Everything was good but the last one there was too much mayo on the salads and no diet drinks. Oh well, one cannot have everything.

Dale and Kitty Nelson have both been on vacation from their work and Dale has hiked several more mountains. They attended Dale's class reunion in Fryeburg, they later went to Mt. Washington Inn in New Hampshire and were in a movie that Matthew had written and directed. Several of his friends from Boston came also to be in it and to help. He had all kinds of equipment from his school in Boston to work with which he returned on Monday. Good luck on this project, Matt.

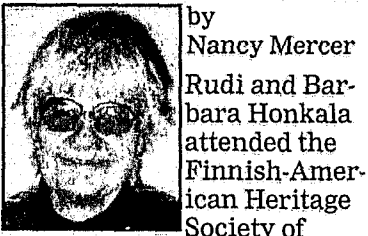

I talked with Loretta Andrews recently at Maine Medical Center, Bramhall Street, Portland. Cards to her would be welcomed, I expect. She has had another leg operation. We hope and pray that everything goes well for you now, Loretta.

Albert has been selling a lot of firewood to campers from Papoose Pond Camping Resort, also delivering wood to nearby areas. Dean Saunders has been helping him load it onto the truck. Today, he is truckless, as Dale took the truck in to Ripley's for some work to be done on it.

On Sept. 4, the church services will be at North Waterford at 10 a.m., also for the rest of the month.

Saturday, Oct. 15, is a Harvest Supper at Stoneham Church from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer

Rudi and Barbara Honkala attended the Finnish-American Heritage Society of Maine picnic at the South Paris Firehouse on Aug. 21.

The East Bethel Church will have its last service on Sept. 11 at 2 p.m., with Ben Conant doing the service. There was a good turnout for the Aug. 28 service.

Woodstock School needs volunteers to help put playground equipment up on Sept. 10. They will start at 9 a.m. and go until done.

On Sept. 17, there will be a benefit potluck supper at the Woodstock School for Jerry Johnson, starting at 4 p.m.

Donna Curtis attended a 100th birthday party for Mrs. Burgess in Casco on Aug. 28.

Daisy Coolidge attended a bridal shower for Ann Roy at the Bethel Alliance Church on Aug. 25.

Charlotte Kimball, Esther Wilson, Grace Gibson, and Jackie Libby attended a bridal shower for Ann Roy in Gardiner on Aug. 21. The funny part is they had to take the bride-to-be with them, as she had no way to get there.

Velora Tuominen and her daughter, Robin, of North Norway visited Paul and Charlotte Kimball on Aug. 25.

The Sanford Mainers ended up in 4th place, but still made it into the playoffs this year.

Neil Olson said he never saw so many people before at a Trappers' Weekend as this year. It was the biggest crowd ever.

Andre and Flossie Bernier are officially grandparents. Ryan and Sheila Bernier had a baby girl, Alexandra, born on Aug. 20.

My error, Bill Hastings had lung surgery on Aug. 22. He came out of surgery okay, but his heart is having trouble pumping and he is in ICU at Mary Hitchcock Hospital in Hanover, N.H.

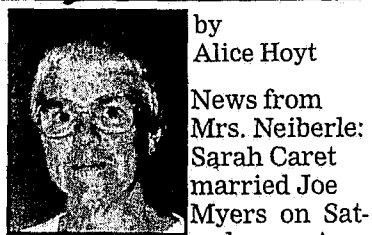

There will be a humorist on Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Grange Hall after the supper. There will be a $10 charge by the Bethel Historical Society, as it is part of the "Barn Again" exhibit.

The "Barn Again" barn tour will be in the East Bethel area, as there are three barns in the area on this tour. The Hastings Farm, Arthur Hertell and Peter Haines will have barns to show on Sept. 17. The barn tour starts in Bethel at the Historical Society's Moses Mason House, where a person pays $10 and receives a map and literature about the barns on the tour.

I am glad I do not live on the Gulf Coast. I'll take Maine anytime.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

News from Mrs. Neiberle: Sarah Caret married Joe Myers on Saturday, Aug. 27, 2005 at Gooch's Beach in Kennebunk. Sarah and Joe reside in Mid Vale, Utah and will continue to do so. Sarah is the daughter of Gary and Patty Caret.

Jim and Karen Yarasitis were lucky enough to have their granddaughter, Amelia, visit them with her parents

(their son) Jim and wife, Jan, for a week.

Blanche Hines came to visit Mrs. Neiberle last Sunday. Blanche and Peter have a house off Birch Street. Also, Jim White and his wife came to visit.

The brochures for Oxford County Fair are out and a new feature at the fairgrounds is bull-riding every night. The fair is being held Sept. 14 through 17.

Did you know that Silver Creations Flowers and Gift Shop is able to send flowers around the world for you? Well, they can with the (800) FLOWERS wire service. They are pleased to announce this new offering. They also are expanding to offer Boyd's Bears and are devoting a corner of their shop to Stamping and Scrapbooking. Stop by and see what they have to offer you. You will not be disappointed.

News from Whitman Memorial Library:

The monthly programs at the Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond will be starting up Thursday, Sept. 8 at 10 a.m. The first guest of the season is Wendy Newmeyer of Maine Balsam Fir Products of West Paris. Wendy is a former Small Business Person of the Year and her products are sold nationwide. Wendy will talk about her business and her products. She also plans to give out a free sample to all who attend. These programs are open to the public and there is no charge. Come and join the fun.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Florence Seames.

On Sunday, Sept. 4 there will be an Open House party for Erlon and Alida Blood on their 60th wedding anniversary. This will be held on Pine Point Road. Mr. and Mrs. Blood were married 60 years ago on the family farm in Woodstock.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES—Last week's weather was perfect for haying, and Norm Davis of Newry, against the backdrop of the Mahoosuc Mountains, took advantage Saturday to finish up his field. His timing was perfect, as Sunday brought the first of several days of rain. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

Family and friends are invited. The time is 2 p.m. Congratulations to them.

Greenwood City

by Rena Curtis
We have had a busy week with children getting ready for school.

Fred and Mande and Felicia and Akayla have been sleeping in their new house and can't wait to get moved in.

Brad and Ann went for a ride to Harpswell and had lunch one day last week. Brad has played golf at the Bethel Inn a few times and Ann is getting him ready for school.

Milt and Eleanor visited Faye and Leonas one afternoon.

The other afternoon I took the girls down swimming and they played with two ducks. Maybe next time we can feed them.

Rena has had some company this week. Her son, Walter, was down from Kingsbury on Friday. Carl and Betty were in over the weekend as was Ray. Lillian and Glenn were here off and on throughout the week and also Albert and Marie's children and grandchildren.

On Sunday, Rena had a surprise visitor, a granddaughter, Lee-Ann, that we hadn't seen for years. She is back working in the area for a while and heard that her grandmother isn't doing well, so Carl talked her into coming and visiting.

Marie's father, Tom Bragg, was in the hospital this past weekend, but is home now. He still doesn't feel the best, but maybe with some time he will be better.

The ditching on Hayes Hill Road is almost done, and it is looking good. In some places the road looks awful narrow, but I guess it will be all right. The ditch will fill in with snow this winter so that two vehicles will be able to pass.

It looks like we are in for some rain most of this week.

Quote of the Week: You will never get eye strain from looking on the bright side of things and there is always a bright side if you look through someone else's eyes.

This week's column was prepared by Marie Curtis.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb
Another near perfect week. Corn, beans, and cucumbers are plentiful. There is nothing more tasty than fresh corn-on-the-cob.

Beryl Bonney spent the weekend camping at Stratton a guest of her cousins, Dorene Merrill and Donna Melville.

On Aug. 21, I attended the 75th Lamb Reunion at Richmond where about 50 Lambs gathered. Lobsters, clams and corn-on-the-cob were enjoyed by all. Cynthia and Sayward Lamb were there, as well as Jeanne Whittemore of Norway and Elaine Blossom and family of North Branford, Conn. I have attended every year since marrying into the Lamb family 58 years ago. There were many children there, so hopefully the family can continue to get together for another 75 years.

Buffy has started sitting on the front doorsteps lately. I go all around the house and barn calling for him and he just sits there and doesn't answer me.

W. Paris Universalist Church
At the West Paris Universalist Church the new church year will begin on the first Sunday after Labor Day. A schedule of speakers, ministers or lay people for each Sunday has been set up.

On Sept. 11, the Rev. Kate Braestrup of Thomaston will be the speaker. The service will include a water communion; so bring a vial of water that has a special meaning to you. Services will begin at 9 a.m. with Jim Burke as organist. A coffee social hour follows.

On Sept. 18, the Rev. Herbert Adams will be the guest minister, and his topic will be "The Healing Power of Forgiveness."

On Sept. 25, Jim Burke will speak on "Confessions of a Unitarian Universalist Christian."

This is the 99th year since the church was built, so plans are for a big celebration on its 100th birthday in 2006. Services have been held every year continuously and are still active.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Over 100 persons attended the 50th wedding anniversary for Er-lon and Maude Alice Hadley. The party was held in the Anderson Room at Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris. A great luncheon was served and it was so good to see many family members and neighbors. Richard and I attended and also Kellie Wing.

Our son, Rick, paid us a visit last Sunday. The baseball was cancelled so he came and brought me belated birthday presents. We had a good time catching up on news.

My brother, Phelps Poland, fell and hurt his shoulder. He is going for therapy for a while. I hope he feels better soon.

My sister, Dottie Critser, Tempe, Ariz., is again in the hospital with a heart problem. She has had one operation and will need another. I am keeping in touch by phone to see how she is doing.

Happy Birthday to all those who are celebrating in September. They are: Joshua Appleby, Walter Appleby, Amy Bru, Hazel Cole, Dottie Critser, Patrice Dunn, Alan Hadley, Maude Alice Hadley, Randi Mack, Cathy Mason, Lloyd Poland, Samantha Poland, Troy Ryerson, Leon Verrill, Rick Wing, Doug Wing, and Darlene Hadley.

Quote of the Week: "I have learned that my children's birthdays make me feel older than my own birthday does."

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Amidst the beautiful backdrop of the Mahoosuc Mountains and the myriad shades of autumn, the 8th annual Bethel Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-off will be held on Sept. 16 and 17, and a guided scenic bike ride will be available on Sunday morning, Sept. 18.

On Friday, the 16th, a lineup of informative tours and open houses are open to all.

From 9:30 till 11 a.m., folks are welcome to stop in at Maine Line Products' Greenwood Store to see how they create their Maine gift baskets and fudge.

From 9 to 11 a.m., all are invited to visit the Maine Chair Kit Company, a division of Bethel Furniture that will have many of their new products on display and for sale.

At 11 a.m., those who are curious about local forest management are invited to the Chadbourne Tree Farms' Philbrook Lot on Route 2, just one-half mile east of the Sunday River Brewing Co., for a one-hour tour. Please wear comfortable walking shoes.

Afterward, grab a quick lunch in one of the fine Bethel area eating establishments and then gather at Hancock Lumber on Route 26 at 1 p.m. for a one-hour tour starting promptly at 1:15. Those wishing to attend this are encouraged to park next to the railroad tracks in the designated lot.

At 3 p.m., the owners of Timberlake's Home Store on the Mayville Road in Bethel will host an open studio, explaining the process of making their renowned Shaker Furniture and other wood products. They will also have a raffle for a dinner for two at the Rooster's Roadhouse, just across the road.

From 5 to 6:30 p.m., all are invited to the Rooster's Roadhouse for a wine and cheese reception and the drawing of that dinner for two.

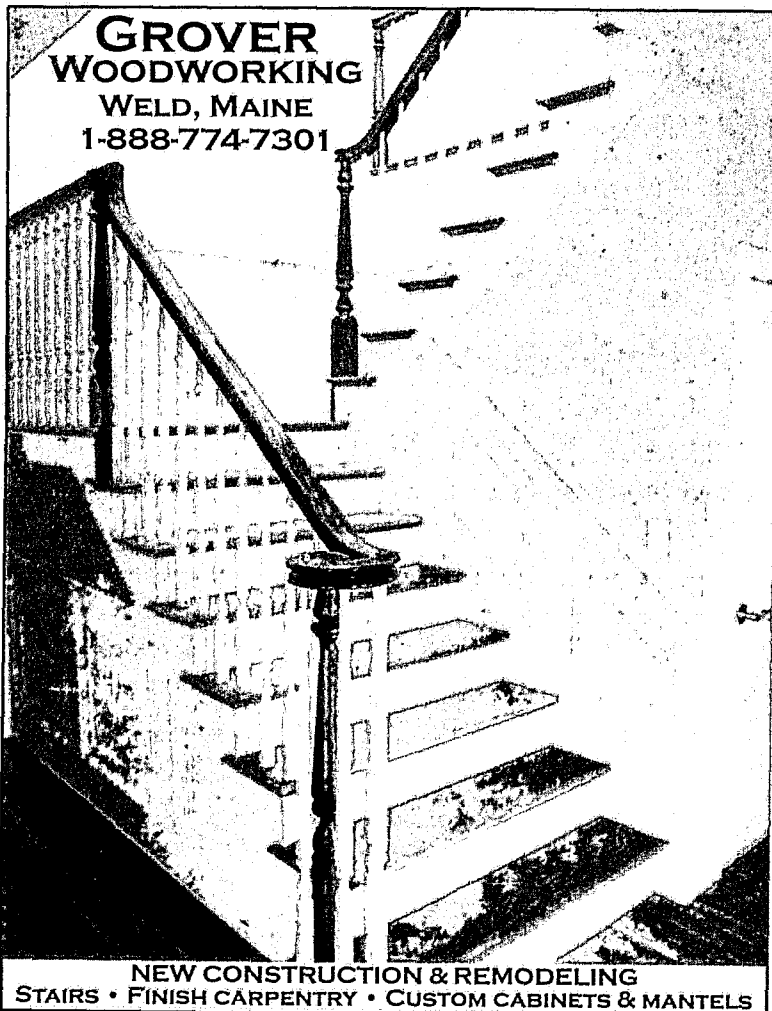

What a great day of informative tours! And don't forget to travel around the area to view the terrific scarecrows that are decorating the area residences, businesses and gateways. The scarecrow theme is "Happy Trails."

The morning of Sept. 17 will bring the Harvest Fest on to the Bethel Common. The arts and crafts festival will begin at 9 a.m. More than 40 crafters and farmers are expected to fill the common with their unique products and harvest items.

At 11:30 a.m., the chamber will begin to sell tickets for the much anticipated and very popular Chowdah Cook-off. This year's event is being sponsored by U.S. Foodservice. A solid turnout is expected from Bethel area restaurants and invitees from a 35-mile radius. This event is not to be missed.

The 3rd annual Apple Pie Contest, where both professional pastry chefs and talented home bakers are encouraged to enter, will have three categories judged: amateur traditional crust pie, amateur non-traditional crust pie and professional pie. Gift certificates for the Good Food Store will be awarded to the winner in each category.

Plan to enjoy wonderful music performed on the gazebo by "The Jazz Guys," from 11 a.m. through the mid-afternoon; so bring your lawn chair and, once the shopping and eating is done, relax and enjoy the talented local musicians. Free horse-drawn wagon rides through Bethel Village will be provided from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Smokey the Bear is planning to visit the common and we also plan to have chainsaw carving.

Everything on the common will wrap up by 4 p.m., so plan to patronize our area merchants and restaurants, some of which will be holding open houses, special events and harvest meals at their respective establishments.

Back by popular demand is the scenic bicycle tour led by Dillon Gillies on Sunday morning, Sept. 18. Participants will have their choice of a 10-mile tour, or continue on to a longer ride of up to 25 miles. Plan to meet at the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce office at 9 a.m. for beverages and snacks before cycling.

The 8th annual Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-Off is being made possible through the generosity of sponsors Allen's Coffee Brandy, Oxford Networks, U.S. Foodservice, Hancock Lumber and C.B. Kenworth. For more information, contact the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Christi Mitchell, historian of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, will be the featured speaker at the 40th annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held on Thursday, Sept. 8, on Society Directors Stan Howe's side lawn (18 Broad Street) weather permitting or in the barn on the property if rainy.

Mitchell's topic will be a slide lecture on the history of Maine barns. This lecture is the first of a series scheduled in connection with the Smithsonian "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" exhibition currently open to the public in the society's Dr. Moses Mason House exhibit hall.

A social hour and chicken barbecue will begin at 6 p.m. followed by time to visit the exhibit before the annual meeting and lecture portion of the program beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone attending the barbecue is asked to bring either a salad or dessert.

During the annual meeting, reports will be heard, new honorary members will be announced, and the 2005 Noll Volunteer Service Award will be presented to an outstanding volunteer. The Nominating Committee will announce a slate of officers and trustees to be considered by all members attending. The meeting is open to everyone and there is no admission charge.

From the Oxford Hills AARP

The Oxford Hills AARP group will be participating in a three-day, two-night getaway to Quebec City, April 5-7, 2006 and will include a Sugar Shack party. After a long, dark, winter, April is a great time to get away for three days to visit our neighbor Quebec City.

An early morning departure will bring you to Quebec City where we will have a city tour before checking in to the downtown Hotel Palace Royal. The hotel features a grand atrium with swimming pool and tropical garden. Dinner this evening will be at L'Astral, a revolving restaurant looking out over the city.

Day 2 will begin with a tour of the world-famous Chateau Frontenac and then on to Montmorency Falls and to the Basilica of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, famous for reported miraculous cures. The afternoon is free to enjoy the city. This evening you will enjoy an evening of fun at a traditional Sugar Shack party with folk songs and music that turn your delicious French-Canadian dinner into a celebration of singing and dancing.

Day 3 in the morning is free for last-minute shopping and lunch before we depart for home.

The cost per person double is $330 and includes two nights hotel, two breakfasts, two dinners, two guided tours, visit to Montmorency Falls and to Ste. Anne de Beaupre, and round-trip motor coach transportation. A deposit of $50/pp is due any time now, this will hold your reservation; the final payment is due Feb. 20, 2006. Cancellations can be made up until final payment. For any questions and to put your name on the list, call Henrietta or Wally at 743-6722. Mail check made out to Walter Taft to 1024 Gore Road, Otisfield, ME 04270.

Lakewood Summer Theater trip Sept. 14 — there are some seats still available. The Fall Foliage trip is sold out but we will take names for a wait list.

Misha Tomic to Open Exhibit at Commons Art Gallery

Misha Tomic will open an exhibition of new work at the CAG (Commons Art Gallery) gallery in Norway, ME. The opening is from 7-9 on Friday, September 2nd. The new work is based on photographs, some of which are digitally manipulated and some are presented without digital modification. The images are printed on paper and large in scale. The artist is a painter by training and has been, up to now, exhibiting drawings, paintings and and experimental work based on painterly media. This exhibition represents a radical switch towards, for him, new techniques. "Even though you can broadly classify this new work as belonging to the world of photography, I do not consider myself a photographer. I believe I am a painter who has found a new technique to execute my ideas. I still think, feel and look at the world like a painter." The inspiration for many of the pieces are everyday things like rulers, crossword puzzles, toilet paper, stamps, receipt forms (in triplicate) etc.

On Friday, September 9, at seven o'clock Tomic will give slide lecture about his work at the gallery.

This is his sixteenth one-person show. Tomic exhibited in many group shows in the US, Canada and Europe and received many awards for his drawings and paintings. He teaches art at CMCC (Central Maine Community College) and lives at Papoose Pond in North Waterford, ME.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

WHAT IS YOUR HOUSE WORTH?

One of the sayings from the "gold rush" days - "Them that's got the gold, sets the price!" - is also a principle that applies to real estate. We say that a house is only worth what someone will pay for it, even though the "market value" of a home. In other words, no sale ever takes place until the buyer agrees with the price.

How can sellers arrive at the maximum "fair" price that buyers are willing to pay? Buyers (and appraisers) make their decision based on comparisons. While shopping for a home, buyers will visit many similar homes in their price range and measure the features of each one against the price. Buyers do not expect a home to be a "steal" or dramatically under-priced, but they do expect it to be a fair value.

Sellers must determine the value that their home offers in order to arrive at the right price. The Realtor will advise the sellers what buyers should be willing to pay for their home, but the seller sets the asking price.

Card of Thanks

The family of Hope Tibbetts wish to express their appreciation for all the support that has been given since the loss of our mother.

Special thanks to the ladies of the United Methodist Church for what mom called "the afters", Geoff Gross for the wonderful graveside service and loving support, and the staff of Stephens Memorial Hospital for their care, understanding and patience.

A very special thank you to Dr. Carnes, who came in to explain to us what was happening, and returning to repeat as different family members and friends came in, and updating her condition as things changed.

Thank you to Funeral Alternatives for the compassion and ease of carrying out her final wishes.

She was given the dignity and respect that she greatly deserved.

Thank you!
The Family of Hope B. Tibbetts
